The Penney Case

Widow's Counsel Says It Should Not Drop With Indictment Dismissal

Insisting that the dismissal of a murder indictment against Mrs. Viola A. Penney in Superior Court, Auburn, Wednesday, should be followed by an investigation that will bring to justice the actual killer of John W. Penney, Auburn filling-station proprietor last May, and that the widow humiliated by the suspicion that was cast on her is entitled to such a conclusion, was the gist of a public statement on the case, Thursday, by her counsel.

"In fairness to Mrs. Penney and her family, the police should not allow this case to drop at this point. The persons who killed John Penney should be found and brought to justice," was a prominent sentence in the statement, by Donald W. Webber.

Kitchen Cupboards

A Very Friendly Gesture From Finns Seen At the Community Building

During the last few days the sound of hammering and sawing has issued from the Community Building Kitchen. These sounds mean that the kitchen is being equipped with new cupboards.

Cupboards are an important feature of any kitchen, as everyone knows, and were it not for the Finns, the kitchen at the Community Building might still be minus cupboards.

In order to pay for these cupboards, the Finnish people are soon going to have an evening's entertainment, further details of which will be given.

Most of the Finnish people in this vicinity are citizens and have every intention of making a permanent residence hereabouts, so naturally they take a great deal of interest in community affairs. Last June a Finnish-American celebration was held at the Community Building at which time the Finnish people received a great deal of help and consideration from their American friends. In appreciation of their kindness, the Finnish people wish to reciprocate and so are having an entertainment at the Community Building, the proceeds of which will be used to pay for the cupboards.

As with the case of Mother Hubbard's cupboards, so it is with the Community Building Kitchen cupboards. They are bare! But it is hoped that someone will realize the great need of dishes at the building and see to it that the cupboards are plentifully filled. We do not ask these for ourselves but for the benefit of the Community Building.

The cupboards will soon be completed, at which time the public is invited to go up and view the result. Selim Ruhomaa, Emil Rivers and John Ojanpera have done the carpentry and Krusti Nuppula the painting.

DON'T BLAME ALL GERMANS!

Pres. Gray of Bates College Thinks Most of Them Do Not Approve Acts of "Madmen"

The troubled conditions which exist in Europe with ramifications not easily defined at this time, were discussed before the Baptist Men's League Thursday night by one of Maine's ablest educators and platform orators, Dr. Clifton D. Gray, president of Bates College. He offered no involved explanation, but discussed the situation with a clarity and forcefulness which left enlightenment with every listener. The Courier-Gazette finds especial pleasure with Dr. Gray's handling of the subject as it was a complete endorsement of the editorial utterances which have appeared in this newspaper.

It was entirely fitting that Dr. Gray should be introduced by a Bates College graduate, Joseph E. Blaisdell. "We are very proud," said Principal Blaisdell, "to have Bates recognized as one of the finer colleges of the East, its success due to the wise methods of the administration, represented by Dr. Gray."

The distinguished speaker preferred his address with special reference to the wave of horror caused by the unspeakably and dastardly acts which have recently occurred in Germany.

"I share in the sentiment expressed by President Roosevelt," said Dr. Gray. "It is at least one case where we are in complete sympathy."

"We must be careful, however in this wave of emotion. I do not believe it has the approval of the majority of the German people. I know that many of them do not stand for that sort of thing. Any feeling of horror and antagonism should not be applied to the German people as a whole."

Dr. Gray told of an exchange student from Germany who did not dare voice his thoughts in public without permission of his government. Permission was sought from the German consul in Boston, who replied that the student's address would first have to be submitted to the German ambassador in Washington.

He told of the savagery wrought upon the Jews because of the act of a half-crazed Polish boy in shooting a member of the German staff. The Jews not only have to pay a fine of a billion marks but have to pay for all of the damage done to their property.

"These persecutors look and act like madmen," said Dr. Gray, "but we should keep our indignation focused on the few in the riddle and not include in our righteous wrath the entire German people. Germany is in the hands of gangsters who may have fine ideals, but use bad practices."

Dr. Gray discussed the Munich Pact at some length telling of the chorus of applause which it received from the nations of Europe and the intensity of the sigh of relief which came from them as a whole. No one could listen to them without feeling that Chamberlain had won a great triumph, and that the Germans gave him more applause than they did their beloved Hitler. There is no doubt that Europe was on the brink of war, and that the four powers were undertaking to seek "peace without honor."

After the first wave of enthusiasm came a growing doubt as to whether the price we paid was worth the while. It left the German Reich absolutely dominant in Central and Southern Europe.

The speaker told of the gradual change which has taken place since Hitler took charge five and one-half years ago, stressing the invasion of the Rhineland, the union with Austria and the building of fortifications which precluded the possibility of France making a quick advance.

From the day the Munich Pact was signed Germany has been in absolute control, excepting the territory west of the Rhineland. France lost its system of alliances.

We ought to be interested in Roumania, the speaker said because there are 70,000 Baptists there.

Germany took 12,000 square miles of Czechoslovakia territory and Poland and Hungary have been acting like jackals for their share. The chief industries of Czechoslovakia are under the control of Germany which finds there iron, glass and other raw materials which it needs. Czechoslovakia will become a third or fourth class agrarian State—and that was the kind of a surgical operation which Chamberlain stood for.

The German population in Switzerland is much worried. It is un-

Old papers saved: The Rockland Opinion of Sept. 23, 1881, containing an account of the death of President James A. Garfield, victim of an assassin's bullet. In the same issue was the story of the triple shooting in the home of David M. Robbins near South Hope.

I never pass in the vicinity of the High School building without thinking of poor old Simon Trueworthy and his rock salt gun. Gone are the unsavory quarters which he occupied just south of the school building, but no pupil in those days, if now living, will ever forget the anger of the sorely beset owner. Nobody ever thought of answering the school bell without showering rocks upon the roof of Simon Trueworthy's house. And no survivor of that period has ever ceased to wonder what miscreant set fire to the ill-smelling structure.

A musical extravaganza with a cast of 1000, costing at least $500,000 to produce, is to be put on by Billy Rose, at the New York World's Fair 1939. It is to have a modern American theme, with songs, dances, dialogue, tableaux and large choruses of pretty girls, and it will be produced in the 10,000-seat Fountain Lake Amphitheatre, which has an island stage.

What is the oldest house in Rockland? Just to start the argument going I offer the Perry house in Maverick square.

The publication of the old Central Club roster created much interest on the part of old residents. N. F. C. Bb is authority for the statement that only six of the members there listed are now living.

The 9-year-old granddaughter of Col. and Mrs. L. Leslie Cross recently attended a ball in Belfast and told the folks on her return that she had a perfectly wonderful time. "I danced The Woman of the Lake," she said triumphantly. This should afford many older readers a smile.

Nothing can exceed a grandmother's love unless it be that of a dog's. So a New York woman learned to her sorrow the other day when she undertook to lift her year-old-grandchild from a cradle. The dog unaccustomed to see anybody handle the child excepting the parents, immediately attacked the woman who was so badly bitten that she had to be taken to a hospital.

The population of the United States now exceeds 130,000,000. Yet there are some nations which think they can sass Uncle Sam with impunity.

A Rockland professional man likes ice cream so well he eats it by the quart, and generally buys an extra quart for a Warren friend who has a similar weakness. The Rockland man doesn't care what kind of ice cream it is, so long as it is chocolate.

Premier Mussolini drove Masonry from Italy early in his regime, and now Rotary International is to follow suit Dec. 31. And just see what Hitler is doing.

Thursday night's radio told of the 22-year-old girl who committed suicide after seeing the picture "Young Dr. Kildare." This picture was recently shown at Strand Theatre and was very generally liked.

The fog was so thick along the New England Coast yesterday morning that the radio was sending out caution to avoid one town where it was especially bad. No motorist needs to be told what a heavy fog is like.

The question in many Rockland households the coming week should not be: How large a turkey shall we buy? but what can we do for the family which has neither turkey nor chicken.

Very Few Pheasants

Were Killed During Five-Day Open Season—So Reported

Maine's pheasant population did not decrease to any great extent during the recent five day open season on the birds. The Fish and Game Department, still seeking reports from hunters on the number of pheasants killed, said incomplete records showed "very few" birds had been shot between Nov. 10 and 15.

"We would like to receive from each pheasant hunter," Fish and Game Commissioner George J. Stoble said, "the number of birds shot and location where killed for our records."

Reports from wardens indicated most of pheasants shot were taken from sections of Cumberland and York counties.

The short open season is the first ever declared on pheasants in Maine.

Plow It Under

The Disposal of Corn Stubble Will Help Cheat the Corn Borer

Ninety-five percent of Maine corn growers have complied with the requests of the Department of Agriculture to plow under the corn stubble, but the remaining 5 percent are jeopardizing the corn planting industry of the state in refusing to do their part toward eliminating the corn borer population, it was revealed by Plant Industry Chief, E. L. Newdick.

In most cases it is the small home garden which has not been taken care of and which when left exposed affords the borer a snug winter home, Newdick said.

"More than 14,000 individual plots of corn are grown in this State each year," said Newdick, "and the Department is grateful to those who have seen fit to participate in the campaign and seeks the co-operation of those who have not complied with the law up to this time."

A CALL TO PRAYER

Let us put by some hour of every day For holy things!—whether it be when dawn Peers through the window-pane, or when the moon Flares like a burnished topaz, in the vault, Or when the thrush pours in the ear of eve Its plaintive monody: some little hour Wherein to hold rapt converse with the soul, From sordidness and self a sanctuary, Swept by the winnowing of unseen wings And touched by the White Light Ineffable!

His Wish Came True

A thrill that comes to few was the lot of Alderman R. Lewis Cates yesterday when he took a ten-minute stroll on the bottom of Rockland harbor at high water. Incidentally it fulfilled one of his life-long ambitions, to actually go down in a diver's suit. The experience was had through courtesy of Diver Bernier of Biddeford who is doing the underwater work in connection with the raising of steamer Vinal Haven.

LIVING STANDARD TO FALL

If Uncle Sam Persists In Penalizing Industry, President Wyman Says

Walter S. Wyman, president of the Central Maine Power Company, warned Tuesday that the American standard of living will inevitably fall if the Federal Government continues its policy of penalizing industry with wage-hour restrictions and inviting competition from abroad by lowering the tariff walls.

He told a joint meeting of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs in Portland that this situation "cannot go on." He declared his belief that the American people will not submit to a reduction in their living standard, and he added, they should not be forced to.

"We must get back to working long enough to make a living," he asserted. "We cannot do it in 10 hours (a week), nor 20 hours, and I doubt if we can make it in 40. . . . We ought to make it possible for private industry to make a profit. Unless this is possible, our whole capitalist system will fall."

"There must be a way to do it. We must find it. We cannot do it by saying two and two don't make four."

Referring to tariff reductions, the Augusta industrialist said that three months after a new product reaches retail stores from American factories, a Japanese-made product, fully as good, reaches the same stores. Its cost, he said, is about two-thirds of the amount required to manufacture it in the State of Maine.

Mr. Wyman devoted much of his talk to changes in Maine industry, comparing the present with the past. He said his grandfather bought an 160-acre farm, paid $10 for it to the State, worked 40 years of fudge, cakes and punch were sold by Dotty Havener.

"For the Glory of Tech," a short play was presented at the evening session by Mrs. Smith's Sophomore Speech classes with this cast: "Ray Jacobs," Christy Adams; "Mae Richards," Geraldine Norton; "Jim Daley," Jack Wood; "Coach Fox King," Perry Margeson; "Dynamite Holden," Alaric Pearson; Narrator, James Moulaison; "Parsons," Clarence Butler; "Briggs," Ernest Harrington; "Speed Nater," Elmer Pinkham; "Taylor," Harold Tolman; sound technicians, Edward Law and Russell Williamson; stage manager, Ritchie Linnell. Opening exercises were led by Ruth Seabury and Malcolm Ingraham. —Geraldine Norton

SERMONETTE

Footprints

Books open to us ancient worlds. By reason of them we can walk in the steps of those who have gone before. Through the books which make up the library we call the Bible we are able to reconstruct Abraham's life and wander with him afieid from Ur to Egypt. Moses, the Kings, priests and prophets, where they went, their battles, sins, sufferings and pleasures are made part of our own lives.

We live over our Saviour's life, meet His friends, enter their homes and come to them. Shakespeare, Dickens, Dumas, Balzac and Thackeray bring the peoples of their day into our homes.

John Burroughs familiarizes us with Walt Whitman. We see him large of frame, ruddy of face wandering through the hospitals in Washington, after the great battles; a haversack over his shoulder filled with fruit. From cot to cot he goes, peeling and dividing oranges with the wounded. It made no difference, blue or grey, he cheered and comforted them alike. We see President Lincoln watching him from the White House, as Whitman sauntered by and hear the great emancipator say "Well he looks like a man."

Books preserve these pictures for us of men of other days. We walk and talk with them and as our friends. Could anyone desire more than to wish with Longfellow to so live that we might leave our own footprints in the sands of time for other men to love?—William A. Holman

At St. Peter's Church (Episcopal) Rev. E. O. Men from the U.S.S. Yorktown will have shore liberty today and tomorrow. If conditions are favorable the giant airplane carrier will leave port next Monday. Many have commented upon the fine appearance of the Yorktown's sailors, and their general behavior while ashore.

"For Richer or for Poorer," a new novel by a famous author, Theima Strabel begins in the American Weekly Magazine with the Nov. 20th issue of the Boston Sunday Advertiser. Don't miss this story of love, sacrifice and adventure.

The church school will meet in the vestry at noon. Mrs. Glover's class for women will meet at her residence after the morning service. At 10.30 a. m., special music by the choir with Pomona Grange representing Rockland, Camden, and adjacent communities as guests. The sermon, "Returns of Harvest."

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon that will be read in all churches of Christ, Scientist, on Nov. 20. The Golden Text is: "Yea, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee." (Isaiah 26:8). The citations from the Bible include the following passages: "O God, thou art my God; early will I seek thee; my soul thirsteth for thee, my flesh longeth for thee in a dry and thirsty land, where no water is" (Psalm 63:1).

"The Place of Thanksgiving in Service" will be the sermon topic by Rev. Charles A. Marsteller at the Littlefield Memorial Church Sunday morning at 10.30. The music will include an anthem by the choir and a solo by Mrs. Henry Ulmer. A children's story will precede the sermon. The church school meets at 11.45 and the Christian Endeavor at 6. Praise service and sermon at 7.15, the topic being "A Common Practice." The third sermon in the series on "Ancient Wisdom in Modern Attire," will be given by Mr. MacDonald. He will deal with the man who showed his wisdom by being thankful. The happy prayer and praise service will be held Tuesday evening at 7.15.

"JUST AROUND THE CORNER"

Shirley Temple is herself in "Just Around The Corner," and if you met her on her cross-country trip you know how grand that is! Her latest 20th Century-Fox film features Charles Farrell, Joan Davis, Amanda Duff, Bert Lahr and Bill Robinson.—adv.

Based on what is said to be the most original story idea ever conceived for a Shirley Temple picture, "Just Around The Corner" with America's Number One star surrounded by a splendid cast.

The story concerns the hilarious but happy consequences which arise when Shirley confuses a wealthy old banker (whose name happens to be "Uncle Sam" Henshaw) with the lean and be-whiskered gentleman who is the symbol of our national life.

Charles Farrell, Joan Davis, Amanda Duff (a promising newcomer), Bill Robinson, Bert Lahr and others are featured. The screen play is by Ethel Hill, J. P. McEvoy and Darrell Ware, from an original story by Paul Gerard Smith. Irving Cummings directed and 20th Century-Fox's Darryl F. Zanuck was in charge of production.—adv.

Supt. Gray Grateful

To Those Who Checked the Spread of Disease In Waldoboro Schools

Waldoboro, Nov. 15

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—May I express, through your paper, my sincere appreciation and, I am sure, that of the public, for the prompt and efficient co-operation rendered by the health officials, school physicians, family physicians, selectmen, parents, teachers and others, in effectively checking the spread of certain communicable diseases in the schools of Waldoboro, Jefferson, Nobleboro and Bremen.

These diseases consisted of whooping cough, mumps, measles, scarlet fever and impetigo. The spread of an epidemic disease is like the spread of a fire; and the duties of health officials are like those of firemen. Prompt action in the early stages is imperative. The promptness, courage and courtesy with which these duties were carried out did, according to my judgment, prevent several epidemics in the schools, which would probably have had serious consequences in loss of attendance throughout the year; chronic after effects and possible deaths.

The Ganders' New Uniforms Jockey Them Into the Lead

The rainbow hued surroundings at the Cascade Alleys acquired another touch of brilliant color Monday night as the butterfly colored Ganders appeared in a dashing new addition to their bowling costume that turned the Skippers' white and set faces to an envious green. The finishing touch that touched off the Skippers was a neat little jockey cap of the darling shade of purple, cut on the bias, with the cutest little G on the front, and with the sheenest sheen to them ever seen-er-we mean seen.

The only reaction that came to the Skippers after seeing this creation of the milliners art, was to swear by all the high winds of heaven to appear in something that would be at least becoming to a he man, if they could find nothing but so-westers to do the trick.

But however delicate the appearance of the Ganders headgear, they were far from gentle in their treatment of the bedeviled Skippers, for they gave them a neat trimming and dowsed their topsails to the tune of some 36 pins.

The Skippers started off as if they were going to win in a walk-and at the half-way mark of the first string were some 60 pins ahead of the silk hatted Ganders, but in the latter part of the first string Shields unlimbered a few crashing strikes and spared and cut down the lead of the Skippers to the finish to 35 pins.

In the second act Der Captain Grimes took the leading role and with his silk cap at a jaunty angle he reeled off a 113 string that set him walking on eggs and grinning from ear to collar button. But it wasn't quite big enough to win him his smokes for the week as "Pete" Peterson nosed him out on the total.

Spurred on by Der Captain and his masterly coaching along with his utter disregard for danger (to the other fellows' pocketbooks) the Ganders came back to take the second string by 55 pins, the sinking Skippers slowly succumbing to Shield's smashing strikes and spares.

They went a little further to leeward in the third squall and ended up on their beam ends, completely blown down. This places the series at three and two with the Ganders on the up side, but Gene Hall says that if there is anything in headgear that peps one up he is going to have same on hand next Monday night.

Gene and his arch enemy and dearest friend staged an even- Steven performance, coming out with 247 apiece and then shaking hands and calling it a day. Somebody who notices those little things has suggested that it looked as if Gene and Scotty had an understanding not to get too far apart in their bowling score, but we doubt if they ever could get together on such a proposition.

"Doc" Lyford subbing for Dyer who was out in New York buying the Brooklyn Bridge, started out as if he was going to be the next champion, but he cooled down and before the thing was over was not so hot. The ol' Goose was pushed down into third place, as he was a little shy on pump priming, and his stomach was flapping like a rag in the wind. Without something in front to stiffen his backbone the Goose simply cannot do his best. Captain Grimes is holding out hopes however for he expects to have enough in the feed bag to stage another supper before the Goose actually loses any flesh.

The junior class is winner of the volleyball series. Standing of the classes was: Juniors, won 6, lost 1; seniors, won 2 and lost 4; freshmen, won 2 and lost 4; sophomores, won 2 and lost 3.

The magazine subscription campaign was closely contested between the "Americans" and the "Nationals." Each team won four games and an extra day was necessary to determine the winner. The final results show the "Nationals" to be the victors and the members of that team are to eat the ice cream on school times at the expense of Mr. Kempton, the salesman from the magazine company. Approximately 90 more sales were made this year as compared with a year ago. Phyllis Perry and Madeline Haskell were the high salesmen. Premium awards will be made to the students.

The Steam Vapor Cleaner
Amazes All At Boynton's
Service Station

An amazing new piece of ma-chinery has been installed at Boyn-ton Oil & Motor Co., 115 Park St. It is a Jenny Steam Vapor Cleaner which cleans and washes down the motor, underbody and chassis, freeing all parts from sand, tar and surplus grease.

This steam vapor cleaner has many industrial uses being available for sterilizing and steam cleaning floors, exterior granite or brick walls, sidewalks, etc. It is also recommended for removing weather stains from monuments and ceme-tery markers.

It is highly important to keep a car clean in order to save sand and grit from working into moving parts of chassis. This new treat-ment also prepares the under body for painting which prevents rust and corrosion.

A special quick car wash includ-ing steam vapor under wash and regular body wash will be featured in order to introduce the new ma-chine at $1.95. A thorough steam vapor cleaning, repainting under-gear and degreasing the motor will be done for $3.95, thus putting one's car in perfect, efficient condition for winter driving.

Mr. Kennedy was born Sept. 16, 1872, and attended the public schools in this city. His early years were devoted to the restaurant business, and for a while he conducted a bowling alley. At the time of his death he was proprietor of a fruit and confectionery store and book stand in the Masonic Building. He belonged to the Sons of Union Vet-erans, Odd Fellows, Masons, Eastern Star, Rebekahs and Lions. While not a member of the Methodist Church he was one of its staunch supporters. His genial nature and straightforward conduct in business affairs made him well liked and re-spected in the community.

Mr. Kennedy was married 45 years ago yesterday to Miss Alice Hutchinson of Little Deer Isle, who survives him, together with one son, Maurice, who had been associated with him at the store more than 14 years; a daughter, Mrs. Francis E. Haveren; a brother, Frank Ken-nedy of Camden; two brothers-in-law, Capt. Hutchinson of Little Deer Isle, and Daniel T. Randall of Need-ham, Mass.; and a son-in-law, Francis E. Haveren. Mr. Kennedy was very proud and fond of his seven grandchildren—Francis Haveren, Jr., Richard K. Haveren, Nor-ma L. Haveren, Margaret C. Haveren, Beverly A. Haveren, Dorothy A. Kennedy, and Raymond J. Kennedy.

WILFRED V. MORIN

Death came without warning Nov. 2 to Wilfred V. Morin, North Main street, taking him at the prime of a busy life.

He was born July 11, 1896 in Brunswick, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nestor Morin. He was edu-cated in the parochial schools of Brunswick and attended college in Canada prior to entering service for the World War. He qualified as machine gunner but the Armistice prevented overseas service. Sub-sequently he made his home in Port-land until he came to Rockland two years ago for the Electroflux Cor-poration.

On Sept. 1, 1928 he married Geo-rgia Huntley of Rockport who sur-vives together with brothers Alcide and Joseph of Brunswick and Paul of Westbrook. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Fr. E. O. Kenyon of St. Peter's Church and interment was in the Amesbury Hill cemetery, Rockport.

ANNIE S. GEDDES

Mrs. Annie S. Geddes, 74, promi-nent Flushing clubwoman, and wife of John Geddes, the oldest business man in the community, died of heart disease Nov. 7 at her home, 40-12 Main street, Flushing. She had been ill only about a week.

Mrs. Geddes was born in Chelsea, Mass., a daughter of the late Martha and William Osborne. She had lived in Flushing for 52 years. Her hus-band has conducted a paint store at the Main street address for more than 60 years.

Mrs. Geddes had long been promi-nent in community affairs in Flush-ing. She was a past president of the Women's Auxiliary of William A. Leonard Post, American Legion, and also of the Women's Relief Corps of George Huntsman Post, Grand Army of the Republic. She was also an active member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Flushing and had for many years taken an active part in local wel-fare and philanthropic movements.

For ten years Mrs. Geddes had been a summer resident of Crescent Beach, Rockland, Me., where she was well known.

Besides her husband, she leaves three sons, William, George and Harry Geddes, who are associated in business with their father; a niece, Mrs. Lotta Cain of Palermo, Me., and five grandchildren.

Services were conducted at Fo-garty's Funeral Home, 136-25 Forty-first avenue, Flushing, by Rev. No-rman Hall, pastor of the First Metho-dist Episcopal Church of Flushing. Burial was in Flushing cemetery.—Long Island (N. Y.) Star Journal.

The news of Mrs. Geddes' death was received in this locality with deep sorrow. She was one of the oldest and most popular summer residents at Crescent Beach. Among those who attended the funeral was Ralph M. Choate of this city.

ROTARY CLUB MEETS

At the meeting of the Rotary Club yesterday J. E. Stevens told how Gen. and Mrs. Knox became such large owners of real estate in this section. Among other things of interest he told about a large part of valuable land in Rockland that comprised a good many acres was sold for about 66 cents per acre, real estate on which now stand valuable houses and stores. How "Bert" could remember so many dates and figures without the aid of notes was a wonder to all. The club surely did enjoy his talk for he always has something worth while and they know he has made a deep study of his subject. Don Matheson, the popular High School athletic director, ate his first meal with the club as a new member. The meeting was the first under the new management of the Thorndike and 53 Rotarians and two guests were present. Visiting Rotarians were Hal Boardman of Bangor, S. L. G. Sutherland of Camden, C. W. Babb of same place, Harold Ogden of Melrose, Mass. Guests of members were Frank Fuller of Rockland, D. F. Stanley.

This And That

Girls, hunt up your old gold locket, if you have not turned it in for old gold, and your lovely silver buckles, and wear them if you desire to be modish.

A new dirigible is to be built by the Navy, to cost $3,000,000 and will be smaller than the previous ones.

"Zest for the Quest of the Best" was the text of a sermon Sunday night celebrating a late Armistice service in New York. A fine thought.

A factory in Stratford, England, employing 3,000 girls has installed 40 pianos in the plant. When a prosperous industry concludes that its interests are served by music and employs 40 girls to play for them, it begins to look as if music is one of the essentials of life and its business.

And the Bethlehem Steel Corporation which has a band of 130 pieces, an orchestra society and a Bach choir, is only one of hundreds of big organizations in the United States which have adopted music, not only as a clean influence in their plants, but as what Charles M. Schwab calls a "stabilizer" as well.

Some of the music suggested by the Music Clubs of the State for Thanksgiving season to be sung when possible—Anthems, Hallelujah Chorus from the "Messiah," Handel; "The Heavens are Telling," Handel. All this and more will be sung in Portland Nov. 20 at the Thanksgiving Festival at City Hall.

So William Powell will be seen seven more years. He has signed his contract with M-G-M Studio to the small sum of only $600,000. His health is better. Why shouldn't it be with that prospect?

What a lot of talk the "Holy Ghost and Us" cult is creating. Wonder if the former leader, Frank Sandford, is directing under cover? Crowds attend the meetings regularly.

"One friend I have who lets me live and never tries to make me over, completely uninformative. His name is Rover."

In Miami is a beauty parlor which advertises "Black eyes will be cured in a few minutes—guaranteed results." They do a rushing business.

It appears, after reading headlines in a New York paper, that women will be obliged to wear more clothes next season at the beaches as well as all public places.

I think it was Phillips Brooks who first said, "The occupation of Heaven is praise."

In a Rockland Gazette of 1864, the question was asked, "Who is Zachary Taylor?"

Another item was a sure cure for toothache: Put black pepper on a shovel and hold it over the coals until it is very hot, then snuff the pepper up your nostril and the ache will go at once. These items were given by a very popular dentist who thinks it might—or else!

The flag went up on the City Building at 11:30 a. m. Tuesday. Was there any special reason for that hour?

The General Knox wall paper, especially the dining room paper, is being extensively used by appreciative persons in Massachusetts. One person is using this paper in the house built in 1760 and where Gen. Burgoyne and his staff were prisoners of war in 1777. It is also being used by other persons of distinction in the drawing room of their Colonial home at Essex.

Rules to follow when mixing batters: For batter cakes or flap jacks, use one cup liquid to one cup flour; for muffins, two cups liquid to two flour; for soft dough to be kneaded three cups flour to one of liquid; for pastry of cookies, four measures of flour to one liquid.

The helpful and understanding addition to the musical circle that Miss Lotte McLaughlin is providing in her excellent class work, has stimulated the music needs of this city. How good a civic chorus would be!

The Bowdoin students have decided not to thumb rides any more, but they have a new way to get the lifts. They have painted signs on their backs in bold lettering easy to read, thus: "If you don't give us a ride we will vote for him again." They usually get the ride.

Pertinent Questions Concerning the Wholesale Destruction of Lives and Homes

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:— I have gratefully noticed how carefully The Courier-Gazette has avoided as much as possible this constant talk of war with which we are otherwise bombarded from all sides. It is a pleasure and comfort to read The Courier-Gazette in this war mad world of ours.

In the following article, which I have headed "Upheaval" I have tried to express the thought that I feel must be in so many of our minds today of the condition of our so-called "modern world." Every day we see warring nations striving for supremacy and dictators reaching for more lands, wealth and power, until it seems the whole structure of our civilization is being undermined.

Of what use is this wholesale destruction of lives, homes and lands? Are the few trying to revolutionize our universe until the old mode of living is gone, leaving in its place fear and disaster? Are the ethics of living to be completely cast aside in this march for supremacy, with broken lives, bodies and hearts left in its wake?

What do these leaders of aggression expect to gain? Sooner or later their places will be taken by others new voices, new ideas and all that has been taken by the bloodshed, sorrow and despair of the weaker has gained them nothing, vain glory perhaps, but to what does that add up, when persecution and suffering of innocent people are weighed against it?

In the sight of God all people are His children, and we must still obey His commandment "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbors' goods."

NO MORE SEA

[For The Courier-Gazette]
How I enjoy the surging sea,
Beside which I was born;
And found my childhood pleasures free,
That memories now adorn.

When my vacation time comes round
For recreation sweet,
What thrills within my soul abound,
As ocean waves I greet.

What would my mortal life be worth,
How could I happy be,
Had I to spend all earthly days
Where there is "no more sea?"

Some day will come my soul's demise
From joys here dear to me,
I hope to go to Paradise
Though there is "no more sea."

Great grace I must indeed be given
That I may happy be
Through all eternity in Heaven
Where there is "no more sea."

Post-Election Survey of 24 States Finds 51.5 Percent Republican

A post-election survey of 24 States showed that by unofficial counts Republicans polled 51.5 percent of the vote, compared with 40.1 percent in 1936 and 46.1 percent in 1934.

With the exception of Georgia, the survey did not include any of the heavily-Democratic Southern States because sufficient data from them is still lacking.

The percentage of Republican votes in the 24 States in 1936 was computed on the basis of the total vote in the Presidential race. The percentage for 1935 was reached on the basis of votes for Representatives. For the 1938 compilation, gubernatorial and Senatorial returns were used in some cases because of incomplete returns in the district elections of Representatives.

In the 24 States this year, the G. O. P. polled 14,886,356 votes. With 14,010,223 ballots, Democrats had 48.5 percent of the major party vote.

Despite the indicated Republican vote-getting advantage in half the States, which comprise populous centers of the East, Midwest and West, Democrats elected 262 Representatives, or 60.2 percent of the House membership. With 170 Congressmen, Republicans have 39.1 percent of the House voting power.

The nationwide popular vote cannot be tabulated until all States have reported. If the ratio of former years is maintained, however, the 24-State survey would indicate a total vote of about 40,000,000. Such a total, minor-party ballots, would be the greatest off-year vote in history.

The preliminary tabulation showed that Democrats suffered major percentage losses in a dozen key States.

Although they won the New York Governorship, Democrats polled only 50.7 percent of the major party vote in that race. The ratio in some other State-wide races was higher, however. In the 1936 Presidential election, the party polled 58.5 percent of the vote, and 56.8 percent of the off-year balloting of 1934.

Pennsylvania gave the G. O. P. 53.6 percent of its Democratic-Republican vote this year, compared with 41.8 percent in 1936 and 43.8 percent in 1934.

The Democratic percentage in California dropped from 67.8 in 1936 to 54.1 this year. It fell from 60.7 to 47.5 in Ohio, from 56.0 to 50.1 in Iowa and from 59.2 to 50.7 in Illinois.

The sharpest Democratic reverses, however, occurred in the "third party" States of Minnesota and Wisconsin. The party polled only 5.7 percent of the Minnesota vote this year, compared with 62.4 percent in 1936 and 26.8 percent in 1934.

Farmer-Laborites, who polled 39.4 percent of the 1934 vote, had 34.3 percent this year. Republicans increased their percentage from 33.3 in 1934 to 60.0 this year.

In Wisconsin, Democrats polled 18.2 and 33.7 percent of the vote for the respective years, 1933 and 1934. The Republicans had 44.3 and 26.1 percent, respectively, and the Progressives, 36.3 and 40.2.

The trend in traditionally Republican States was illustrated by Vermont, where the G. O. P. polled 64.2 percent of the vote this year, compared with 56.7 percent in 1936 and 57.3 percent in 1934.

HE GOES TO THE HEART

Louis J. Taber Told What the Farmer Wants In His Annual Address Wednesday

The Course Ahead

Without offering criticism of the New Deal, Mr. Taber makes very plain his belief that the present agricultural program is gravely in need of amendment and definitely presents the necessity for (1) Simplification of the law at many important points; (2) Elimination of every provision that makes possible compulsory regimentation; (3) Farmer control not only maintained, but increased at every possible point; (4) Preservation of such practical features as soil conservation, crop insurance and ample crop loans; (5) Additional efforts to safeguard the family-sized farm and adequately protect the farm home. This assertion by Mr. Taber is concise and complete: "We must hold all progress gained and improve by amendment and administration while we build a more permanent program."

Industry and Labor

The National Master refers to sit-down strikes and similar phases of the dispute between Industry and Labor, and emphatically shows that the farmer has a tremendous interest as a third party, inasmuch as a cessation of industrial activities because of a strike or a shut-down may bring serious loss to the farmer in the distribution of perishable products. Mr. Taber says: "The farmer cheerfully grants to Business and to Labor the right of organization and collective bargaining, but he must with determination and self-respect demand this same principle for himself. Above all, in the adjustment of problems of wages, hours and profits, we must insist upon law and order and the protection of property; also that a continuing battle between conflicting groups shall never be permitted to levy toll on the tillers of the soil."

The Taxation Menace

Taxation receives careful attention in Mr. Taber's address, with a warning note that "in the outstanding debts from school district to Washington there is a hidden mortgage of approximately $45 on every man, woman and child living under the flag, while of equal importance are the hidden taxes that reach with a heavy hand the great group of people who pay little or no income tax, yet are contributing approximately $240 apiece per year." Widespread public approval will follow this ringing declaration from the head of the National Grange: "The time has come to stop mortgaging the future of our children and our grandchildren. When we stop the flood of bonds and debts in the various branches of government and demand efficiency, honesty and economy on every hand, the wheels of progress will hum again."

Fairness to the Railroads

Under the head of Transportation, there is a reminder that while one of the motives for the starting of the Grange 72 years ago was the railroad monopoly in transportation and the abuses incident thereto, the time has now arrived when the situation of the railroads constitutes a major financial problem, in which the nation's prosperity and national defense are alike involved. Admitting past mistakes by the railroads, Mr. Taber pleads for fair treatment of present tax-gatherer, a distributor of checks and a functionary along a great variety of lines he was never intended to cover, many of these requirements bringing the County Agent dangerously near to the border line of a political office.

America's Testing Time

Ring true to the patriotic principles of the Grange, National Master Taber points to "America's Test," in its mighty task of assimilating the wide variety of races, creeds and viewpoints which have become a part of our population. He warns of many present-day dangers which are utterly antagonistic to the American way of life, comprising a wave of sinister forces, ideals and influences from across the sea, which are growing bolder and more extensive. While exhorting to patience in dealing with the newcomers who must have time to cast off old-world customs, provided they desire to do so, Mr. Taber asserts, "We must be eternally resolute in our demand for a single loyalty to our common country," and utters this challenge, which is worthy of widespread publicity:

If America would preserve its freedom and continue to go forward, our test is near at hand. We must re-proclaim that any man or group of men who prefer some other form of government to our own shall be invited at once to leave our soil. There is only one place for the individual who places any other flag, any other constitution, any other way of life, or any other ideals of government, above our own—and that place is anywhere out of this country!

The Grange Goes and Grows

Giving the interesting information that the 72-year-old Grange has maintained a steady membership gain for the past five years, has increased its number of subordinate units and has made substantial progress along all fraternal lines, National Master Taber happily expresses the Grange prosperity of the present time and looks forward to the Diamond Jubilee of the Order, which is scheduled for universal celebration in 1941 and for which extensive preparations are already in the making. He also sounds a further optimistic note by emphasizing the large place in the Grange program which is being accorded to the youth of the nation, finding therein the surest guarantee for continued Grange growth and prosperity.

Of decided interest is the fact that with 36 organized states represented in the voting body at Portland a new high mark in Grange coverage of the nation will be established; while subordinate Granges are functioning in six other states, where there are not yet a sufficient number of local units for instituting "is expected to be a policeman, a

A Grange unit once established usually continues to function permanently, while in nearly every instance organization of a new state results from the "overflow interest" from some adjacent state. It is due to this wise organization policy over a long period of years that Grange permanency has been secured.

Feed costs that are low compared with egg prices will favor winter egg production and further expansion of the poultry industry in 1939, according to the annual outlook of the U. S. In the poultry meat industry a similar trend toward specialization is apparent.

PERSONALITIES IN MUSIC

JAMES F. HANLEY A.S.C.A.P.

... And He Wanted to Draw

By Daniel I. McNamara

JAMES F. HANLEY, whose song hits include the famous "Back Home Again in Indiana," describes himself as a disappointed cartoonist who chanced to become a songwriter. As a youngster, Hanley wanted to draw. Whenever he started to progress in the art, music intervened. Eventually he became a pianist, forgot his crayons and found fame and fortune in the composition of popular songs.

Born of native Indiana stock in Rensselaer, Indiana, February 17, 1892, he attended Loyola University, Chicago, Chapman University, Prairie du Chien, Wisconsin, and the Chicago Musical College. He emerged from the music institution as a vaudeville pianist.

He was playing vaudeville dates in Europe before the United States entered the World War and returned to America on one of the Lusitania's last trips. He remained in New York long enough to storm Tin Pan Alley, collaborate with Sigmund Romberg on a musical show, "Robinson Crusoe, Jr.," for Al Jolson, and to write the score of "Jim Jam Jams," which starred Joe E. Brown, Harry Langdon, Elizabeth Murray and Ada Mae Weeks. Then he went back to Europe—in uniform, as Sergeant in the 157th Artillery Brigade of the 32nd Division, he became an unofficial impresario, and during the Division's wait for transportation home, he staged the famous soldier show—"Toot Sweet."

On his return to New York, he wrote many songs for Broadway shows, notably the two Fannie Brice hits—"Rose of Washington Square" and "Second Hand Rose." He collaborated with Eddie Dowling in the shows "Honeydew Lane" and "The Sidewalks of New York."

One of the first of Broadway's songwriters to be called to Hollywood, Hanley has provided the musical settings for more than one hundred feature pictures and numerous shorts. He alternates between New York and Hollywood, with his permanent home in Douglaston, Long Island. Happily married, father of four, he is one of the most contented of men, for music is his hobby as well as his profession.

The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, which protects the performing rights of its members' copyrighted works, has several hundred of member Hanley's songs listed. Some of them are, "Back Home Again in Indiana," written in 1917; "Little Log Cabin of Dreams," "No Foolin'," "Just a Cottage Small By a Waterfall," "Zing! Went the Strings of My Heart" and "I'm in the Market for You."
